18. The PPC MAIN EVENT is based on:
 - A maximum of 100 participants per qualifying session;
 - A maximum of 300 participants over the two (2) days of qualifying sessions.
19. The top 20% (maximum of twenty (20) participants in each of the PPC MAIN EVENT qualifying session to a maximum of 60 PPC MAIN EVENT participants) will advance to the PPC MAIN EVENT championship session on Sunday, May 26, 2019 at 11AM.
20. Participants may play in more than one MAIN EVENT qualifying session to a maximum of three (3) but may only advance to the championship session on Sunday with one (1) seat.
21. If patrons participant in more than one PPC MAIN EVENT qualifying session and qualify more than once for the championship session, those participants will advance to the championship session with only one (1) championship session seat, but will be able to hold a “non-seated final position” for the championship session at the last finishing place and working upwards. For example, if two people qualified twice for the championship session, then they would each advance with one valid seat for the tournament and one non-seated finishing position.
22. If a patron participated in more than one PPC MAIN EVENT qualifying session and qualifies more than once for the championship session, then that participant will start the Sunday, May 26, 2019 championship session with the bankroll from the qualifying session where they had the highest chip count. Individual qualifying session finishing chip totals will not be added together.
23. The PPC MAIN EVENT will have an individual champion, determined in accordance with the official rules and conditions specific to the tournament. One hundred percent (100%) of the event tournament prize pool (excluding administration fees) will be paid out among the tournament champion and the remaining top 10% of tournament participants (to a maximum of 30), as determined by the RED SHORES in accordance with these rules and conditions and the RED SHORES tournament rules for Texas Hold'em Poker.

TABLE AND SEAT SELECTION

24. Once the total number of entrants for a PPC MAIN EVENT qualifying session has been finalized and prior to the start of that session, the table and seat assignment process for the applicable session will commence. Seat assignments and/or table assignments will be determined by a random draw.

STARTING CHIPS

25. $8,000 worth of RED SHORES non-value tournament chips will be placed on the poker table in front of each seat assigned to a participant in a PPC MAIN EVENT qualifying session.

TOURNAMENT STRUCTURE

26. The PPC MAIN EVENT will be an OPEN Limit Texas Hold'em tournament.

* The small blind will increase by $5,000 and the ante will increase by $500 every 30 minutes after round 21.

 The tournament supervisor will establish break times.

 Tournament supervisor reserves the right to extend any round time due to slow play or unforeseen circumstances.

27. Rewards Club cards will not earn any points during tournament play.

28. Participants playing in PPC MAIN EVENT sessions must be registered and qualified players. The RED SHORES may, in its sole discretion, allow substitute participants.

29. The PPC MAIN EVENT tournament will not be delayed due to late arrivals. A participant arriving late for their session's scheduled start time (after the session has started) will find their chips on the table in front of their assigned seat. Their blinds and antes will have been taken in turn until such time as the player presents him/her self for participation in the session or their bankroll is exhausted.

30. The PPC MAIN EVENT tournament will have progressive rounds.

31. Non-value tournament chips have no cash value and are only used to determine the overall tournament winner. Chips are to remain on the table and must be visible at all times. Any participant failing to comply will result in his/her immediate disqualification from the tournament. At the conclusion of each PPC MAIN EVENT qualifying session, a chip reconciliation process will ensure all chips are accounted for.

32. PPC MAIN EVENT participants cannot pool tournament chips at any time and can only occupy one player position per session.

33. The participant that wagers the most chips during a multiple all-in hand will be ranked the higher placed finisher.

FINAL DAY (Championship Session – maximum of 48 participants)

34. Twenty (20) or fewer players from the one (1) qualifying session on Friday, May 24, 2019 and forty (40) or fewer players from the two (2) qualifying sessions on Saturday, May 25, 2019 (for a maximum of 60 participants) will qualify for the PPC MAIN EVENT championship session on Sunday, May 26, 2019.

These 60 or fewer players will be returned the bankroll (the total value of chips the participant finished with during the qualifying session they advanced from) of RED SHORES non-value tournament chips he/she qualified with and seated, as per Section 23 of this document, between the final tables.

Minimum bets increase according to the blinds, however any player at any time may wager his/her entire bankroll.

The championship session will not be cancelled due to absent qualifiers and will commence at 11AM on Sunday, May 26, 2019. A player that qualifies for the championship session and is not present at the start of the tournament will be assigned a seat, have his/her chips placed on the table and the blinds and antes will be taken in turn until the player presents himself/herself to participate in the tournament or his/her bankroll is exhausted.

35. In the event that a player qualifies for the championship session more than once, the participant will carry forward to the final day with the higher chip value as per described in rule 22.

The betting limits for the PPC MAIN EVENT championship session will be as follows:
