

Post Time Picks By Peter MacPhee

Thursday, September 24 (6:00 PM Post Time)

Race 1 1-2-3

Ill Tell Me Ma Looked good last out when she sprung the gate and went right down the road winning in 1:58.4. Lands on the rail for this one and we're betting the strategy will be the same and that means she could double up.

Brydown Arrow When you look at her summary she's put together a good year and went wire to wire in Summerside last time. She may be able to draft all the way and if that does happen she could even reach up and win.

Nancys Girl She's hit the board in two of her last three and gets a good post to work from tonight. If she's able to sit in and track for most of it there's a chance she rallies late and gets the show spot.

Race 2 7-8-6

Outrageous Spirit Was eight time winner last year but is still looking for that first win of 2020. Drops to the bottom of the class ladder and adds Barrieau so we think she finds the win column tonight.

Evening Maelstrom Been living on the edges in her last few but doing it at higher levels. Drops a couple of notches for this start and moves to the fence but with the way she can close we have to include.

Scoot Out Of Here Already has three victories this year including the fastest win time on the page. She'll likely be coming from the back but if she's close at the top of the stretch could get up for the show dough.

Race 3 5-4-2

Pictonian Thunder Only has five lifetime starts but looks like he has some step. That was a good effort in the Callbeck back in August where he finished third and was charted in 1:56.4. If he goes there again he'll have a big say in here.

Tribal Sport Did pretty well off the rail last time where he sat in all the way and picked up the deuce. Should be able to get away handy the front again and with Bradley back we think they hit the ticket.

Finer Things She's coming off a couple of solid qualifiers and now gets post two in her first for a purse. Looks to be in line for a good journey from here and if that's the case could get the bronze.

Race 4 7-6-5

JJ Gracie She's eight for eleven in top threes including four wins and a record of 1:56.1. It won't be easy from out here but her form is good and Barrieau is rolling so we'll put them on top.

Akrotiri She's razor sharp right now and has five straight on the board finishes. Moves back outside tonight but Kenny and her have had success so be prepared for another good performance.

Southern Heart Has been racing well and she was a winner two back in 1:59.2. She was good in her last one too and if she closes in 28 and change again will be right there at the wire.

Race 5 6-7-3

Khitam Image Back to back wins at Red Shores Summerside and that latest one was by over five lengths in 1:59.3. Makes the move to Charlottetown and draws post six but with the way she's racing we predict Brodie gets her there again.

Hurricane Hill She's just missed the top three in her last few but not that far away either. She's drops a notch and with the way she can fire home may surprise and provide some value too.

Selfie She's another class dropper who always seems to be in the mix. When you look at her stats over the past few seasons those third place finishes really stand out...could get another one tonight.

Long Shot Play Bayside Alexis

Race 6 6-5-4

Glider Man Left hard off the wings last time and was on front briefly before fading to a fifth place finish. Back in the same spot tonight and we'll see what the red hot Dowling decides to do but we think he rebounds with a win.

Summit City Nate Dropped out of the Open last time and responded with a rock solid third place finish. Takes a slight dip again, adds Merner, and gets a better post so we'll call for the silver.

Whim Road Gem Can't seem to find her game right now but don't forget she does have three wins this season. She has the talent to compete and if she's able to put it all together could be a nice price to round out the tri.

Race 7 1-6-2

Zack The Men Had to race from the fence last time and finished on the fringes. Gets the same class but is on the rail and adds dash leader Campbell so we say he may come calling late and get it all.

Desired Treasure Blasted off the wings last time and cut it all out only to be reeled in by Selkirk Echo in the stretch. Same post, same class, same driver, and maybe the same result.

Oh To Be Me Drops a notch for this start and lines up in an ideal spot. You have to think he's going to get a good trip and he can still scoot home so don't count him out.

Race 8 3-5-2

Majian Tango Looked great last week when he set up shop on the front end and bossed it all the way winning in 2:00.2. Has to move up but he's been here before so don't be surprised to see him get his picture taken again.

Labero He's been sharp the past month and was a good third at the Open level last out. He was a winner three back in 1:59.2 and with the way Dowling is rolling you may want to put him in your tickets.

Cheeky Little Minx That was a solid effort in her first start on PEI finishing second to Freddie. She gets a good post to work from tonight and if she closes in 29 and change should be right there.

Value Play Windmeredontuworry

Race 9 5-1-6

Sophist She's on an absolute roll right now and that was an impressive win last time coming first up and scoring in 1:56.2. Slightly better post and she can fly home so we think Campbell and her win again.

Tell Me Why Take a look at that start two back where she tracked the entire way and got up to win it late. Could be in a line for a similar trip and check out those closing panels...have to include.

Collective Wisdom Was sent to the point last time and got that much needed win. That was a confidence booster and we all know how good she is so more top threes could be on the way.

Most Probable Sophist

Race 10 6-3-5

Good Luck Kathy Raced great two back where she was just nipped at the wire by Tell Me Why. Drops down and gets Brodie back and they've had success in the past so we think they may find the winners circle again.

Bettim Jenny Crossed the wire first last time in Summerside but was placed back to second. She does have three wins this year and we expect Barrieau to be on or near the lead at the start and finish.

Dreas Good Powow Good result last time where she rallied for third and closed in 29 flat. Moves in a couple of spots tonight and is back at the same level so she could get a piece of it.

Race 11 3-5-2

Temagami Seelster Fired off the wings and never looked back winning her fifth in a row on PEI. Has to move up and there is speed to her inside but we're confident Brodie maps out a trip and gets her to the wire first.

Filly Forty Seven Grinded first up last week and still had enough left to win in 1:57 and close in 28.4. It was a sharp effort and Marc gets along well with her so we aren't about to leave her out.

Southwind Ion Finished a bang up second to Temagami Seelster last out and closed in a snappy 28.2. Much better post tonight and she's in line for a great trip so be ready for another top three.

Race 12 6-5-4

Miss Sangria She's been racing some nice horses in her last few and now drops down for this assignment. We like the way she closed last out and if she does that again could return to her winning ways.

Dancers Pass She's been super sharp in her last two just missing to Collective Wisdom in a tight finish. She moves to the mid pack tonight but with the way she is racing it would be smart to put her in your tickets.

Much Adoo She's been right there in her last three and now takes a minor drop tonight. Last time she was here she finished third and closed in 28.2...could get a similar journey and the same result.
