

Race 1 6-4-5

Souverain Drops to the bottom of the ladder and as long as he minds his manners it should be clear sailing to the winner's circle.

Sharks Play A winner his last time at this level and has a favourable starting post.

Toy Cop Will have to rally to get to this spot but we think he is more than capable of the roadwork.

Race 2 3-1-4

Best Brew Has shown some nice gate speed and we think today is the day he sheds his maiden status.

Saulsbrook Devan If he can get spotted a bit better than last week off the rail he can be a major factor.

Game Of Change We liked his chances the last time Heffernan was in the bike but the early break expended some energy to see his wind up third.

Race 3 5-3-1

A Fiesty X Ample Just got nailed late at this level last week and a similar effort puts her back on the path to the winner's circle.

Private Dancer Likely to find herself on or near the lead today to make her chances go way up.

Jays Little Spark Sitting on a pair of thirds at this level and we will expect another one today.

Race 4 5-2-1

Tasteslikeanother A very impressive winner his last start in Truro. He should be more than this group can handle.

Pictonian Thunder Sits on a pair of trips in 1:59 which should make him a suitable candidate for the runner-up spot.

Dylans Future Hit the ticket all of his last five starts and today should be no exception.

Race 5 6-3-1

Sweet Silvia Left sharply from the outside to hit the front and find the winner's circle for the first time in her career last week. Could today he a repeat?

Fusspot A move to the bottom of the ladder could be just the recipe to repair her confidence and see her begin the climb back up.

Badlands Giovanna Snagged a three the last two times she came to this level. She is a potential sleeper.

Race 6 5-3-6

Ultimate Flyingnun Her rallying style coupled with the addition of Dowling makes her a major contender in here if she can keep herself in the thick of the action.

Imagine Speed Should be positioned near the lead and if she comes to play could get it all.

U Cant Fix Stupid Getting Gilles in the seat puts her chances way up.

Race 7 3-1-4

Dam Lucky Shows he loves the front end so Heffernan is sure to get him there and find nothing but open road ahead of him.

Gringo Star No doubt will leave strongly enough that our top choice will have to be released to the lead. If this guy sits and stalks for the duration he could be a much bigger player than his 10-1 morning line would tell you.

Dangle Ona Dime The mystery continues, he could blow this class away with a trip in 1:55 or he could be a non-factor. He has been better every second start all summer so we will peg him for a three this week.

Longshot Play Gringo Star

Race 8 6-4-1

Howmac Magic Generally flourishes in partnership with Barrieau we think his first start in for a price will be a winning one.

Revenant His qualifier was very impressive but he did it off on his own after being on the shelf for well over a year. With him having to race in the pack this week we think he is more suitable further down the ticket until he tightens up.

KD Overdrive Should be well spotted to be a big player in here.

Race 9 4-1-7

Montrose Hope Is as good now as he has ever been and sitting on two straight wins he has a good shot at making it three.

Flash In The Pang His gate speed will put him in a spot that he likely won't have to leave for the duration of the mile.

Legendary Ron The post is an issue but the fact remains that he was a winner in 1:56 and change both his last two starts, but was tossed on Oct. 11 for interference. His confidence will be sky high so don't count him out.

Value Play Legendary Ron

Race 10 5-2-6

Shiftny Georgie Fell short in his latest at this level but this veteran pacer knows how to get the job done.

Philanthropist Drops a notch and draws inside from his last start in Summerside. Watch out for him in here.

Twin B Shadow A minor share is within reach in here.

Race 11 4-1-6

Mrs Dragonfire Has to rally out of a hole every week but she always grinds her way up into the action including a nice performance Thursday in Charlottetown. She is the one to beat.

Bettim Jenny Is right there every week and if our top choice hadn't beat her Thursday night we would likely have this mare in the win position.

JJ Breanne Gets the respect of morning line favourite but playing the post angle we will place her for third.

Race 12 2-4-5

Mantario Admittedly there is no real standout in this group, it's just a field of six very nice horses where anything is possible. With this guy having just come first up in the preferred 1 and hanging for a spot on the board we think he can get it all today.

Heart And Soul Has been the hot horse all season in Prince County and has a real good shot of adding to his 13 top-three finishes today.

Cowboy Logic He has beaten most of these horses before and could just as easily belong in either of the two spots above him.

Race 13 4-3-6

Diamond Call Is likely to find his way to the lead and be unheeded for the mile. Top call.

Adventure Luck This classy veteran comes to play every time out of the gate. Has two wins and a second from his last three starts with Corey at the controls so expect more of the same.

Union Man Hanover A complete war horse with over $445,000 earned and 53 wins in his career. He will be heard from today.

Most Probable Diamond Call
