

Race 1 4-2-6

Ill Tell Me Ma Been living on the edges in her last few but when you look at the stats she's put together a tidy season. Slightly better post today and now adds Dowling so that could add up to win number six.

Akrotiri That was some effort last time where she came first over and was just nipped at the wire. She's had a productive season and all those second place finishes really stand out...could get another one in here.

Ms Moysie It just wasn't her day last time when she got shuffled early and finished fourth in the dead heat. Has to move outside but we think she overcomes it and bounces back into the top three.

Race 2 2-4-1

Khitam Image Hasn't had much to cheer about lately but the good news is she's back inside for this one. Don't forget she has the most wins on the page and Barrieau gets the call so we'll put them on top.

Lorne Valley Barb Made a costly break and took herself out of it early last week. She's had a nice three year old season and looks to have the step to compete so we'll call for the silver.

Anzula Check out that start three back where she was on the front for a long way before being collared in the stretch. Looks to be in line for a similar trip and with Campbell aboard we say they get a piece of it.

Race 3 1-3-6

Rocknrols Image Finished a strong second to You Aint Dolly two back and was charted in 1:59.2. You have to think she's going to get a great trip from here and we predict Corey gets her to the wire first.

Bad Silver We liked that start on October 22nd where she was a bang up second and closed in a brisk 28.4. Gets post position three and Adam returns so we think they hit the podium again.

Private Dancer Already has four wins this year and now gets Barrieau for this assignment. Back outside but were confident Gilles maps out a trip and lands on the ticket.

Race 4 6-2-1

Painted Pony Had to race from the fence last out and was a game third to Jetta Fls. Takes a slight hike and Marc is back in the sulky so we think he gets that first win of 2020.

Desired Treasure That was an excellent effort three back where he tracked all the way and just missed at the finish. He should be well spotted off the gate and if the trip works out will have some say late.

Slide Guitar He was on the fringes in his last start but gets rail control today. We're playing a bit of a hunch but he will be covered up and the price will be right so you may want to include.

Race 5 1-5-3

Ten Mile Beach He lands in a prime time spot and we're betting Gilles will want to call the shots and if they do set up shop on the front end don't be shocked to see them go wire to wire.

Selkirk Echo Hasn't been able to crack the top three recently but not that far away either. Takes a minor dip and those closing panels are solid so be prepared for a good performance.

Bobjohnski Braved it first over last time and has to settle for a fifth place finish. He's back inside and adds dash leader Campbell so it may be wise to put them in your tickets.

Race 6 5-1-3

Galterio Hanover We don't much about him and he hasn't raced since March at Pompano Park. He's coming off a good qualifier and David is back at the controls so he's got a big shot for that first career win.

Kateanna She has two starts and two breaks in her brief racing career. Looks to have the speed to go with these but the question is can she stay pacing? We're about to find out.

Phantom Shadow He hasn't missed the top three yet and been knocking on the door for that first lifetime win. Gets another great post and will get a trip so he looks to be a major player again.

Race 7 3-7-4

Traces of Purple Was a winner the last time she raced this level going gate to wire in 1:56.4. We're wagering the game plan will be the same today and if they do clear will be hard to reel in.

Dancers Pass When you look at her lines she loves racing this level and proved it again last time just missing in a blanket finish. It won't be easy from out here but she could come calling late and get the deuce.

Jordies Hope We went with her last time and she almost got there finishing fourth by half a length! It was still a sharp effort and Barrieau returns so they're back on our ticket.

Long Shot Play Dreas Good Powow

Race 8 4-1-8

Bettim Jenny Couldn't deliver as the chalk choice last out finishing second to Southern Heart. She does have four victories this season and Campbell drives today so we think she returns to her winning ways.

Imagine Speed She had a nice run at Red Shores Summerside hitting the board in three straight starts. Lands on the pylons and will be tucked in for most it so get ready for a good result.

Jens Credit We've said it before she's put together a good year and was right there again last week. If you don't want to play they chalk and are searching for value this could be the one.

Value Play Jens Credit

Race 9 3-5-6

Rockin Indy He's dropping down and finally gets an inside post. He also hasn't won in while but we think Corey will be aggressive off the wings and could be bossing it all the to the winners circle.

Agood Time To Rock Great effort two back where he scooted home in 29.3 and was a winner in 1:58.3. If Gilles can keep him close until the top of the lane he can fire home and have a big say in the outcome.

Zero Rate He's been razor sharp for the past month and just missed to Spack Jarrow last time. He always seems to be in the mix and with David in the race bike today he could be first, second, or third.

Most Probable Rockin Indy

Race 10 5-4-3

JK Express Didn't seem to like the off track last week but prior to that had back to back second place finishes. Drops a notch and adds Campbell so expect a big time bounce back.

Tempo Seelster Raced great last week when he was on the lead for most of it and just nipped in a tight finish. Back in the mid pack and gets a new pilot so we have to include.

Smart Official He's really turned it around in the last three weeks and was oh so close to winning last out. Lines up in a favourable spot and will be well positioned off the wings so we say he gets the show dough.

Race 11 2-4-1

Pillage And Burn He's been on a huge tear the past two months and already has eight wins this season. He's also back inside for this start so don't be surprised if he's first or second again.

Creepin That was a nice win last out where he brushed to the lead up the backstretch and scored on an off track in 1:59.3. When you look at his chart lines he's always in contention and we expect more of the same today.

Shadow Of A Daut The partnership with Marc has worked out great and they were winners again last time. Moving on up but it's hard to go against this combination so we can't leave them out.
