

Race 1 4-1-6

Clare Hall Hanover She got a second over trip last week and closed in 29.1 to finish fourth. Don't forget she did win five times last year and takes a slight dip in here so we think they rebound with a win today.

Bettim Vicky We liked that start three back where she was sent to the front and never looked back winning in 2:00.2. Gets rail control for this one and Kenny continues to roll so we'll call for the deuce.

Dueling Banjos Excellent effort last out where she flew home in 29.2 and just missed by a whisker to Pacific Delight. Moves up a level and is on the outside but we're confident David maps out a journey into the top three.

Race 2 4-6-3

Rockstar Drums Big time effort from the seven hole where he rallied late and got up to grab the bronze. Much better post today and if he's close at the top of the stretch could get that first win of 2021.

Jetta Flys Hasn't had much to cheer about lately but drops a notch for this assignment. It won't be easy from out here but Jason knows him well and they've had success in the past so we think they get a piece of it.

Oh To Be Me Been living on the edges in his last few but the good news is he's back inside for this start. Those closing panels are still solid and if Gary can keep him in the mix they're a good option to round out the tri.

Race 3 5-6-2

Atufflittleguy He's been oh so close to winning but was nipped again last week at the wire. Seven straight on the board finishes and one of these times everything will go his way...we think it happens today.

Rave Review Raced well again last time finishing third and not that far away at the finish. Has to move outside but her form is good and Corey returns so they're back on our ticket.

Pocketfulofpromise We liked the way she finished up last week closing in 30.2 and just missing the ticket. She only has four lifetime starts but seems to be getting better each time out so they could go one better today.

Race 4 4-3-5

Therealdeal She raced great from post six and finished third to a couple of good mares. Drops down the class ladder and David is back in the bike so don't be shocked if they hit the wire first.

Magical Cowgirl She was able to draft all the way last week and finished a bang up second to Howmac Missy. Remains at the same level and may get a similar trip so they could be first or second this week.

Bettim Jenny She had the rail last time and couldn't deliver as the post time favourite. Gets post five this week and remember she did have four wins last year so don't be too quick to count them out.

Race 5 4-5-1

Selkirk Echo What a great performance last out when he came storming home is 28.3 and just missed getting it all. Takes a slight hike but those closing panels say a lot and we predict Gilles gets him there today.

I C True Grit We liked the way he raced two back when he came first up and was a game second to Three Truths. Drops down and gets a new driver but we think Mike works out a trip and is a factor at the finish.

Zack The Men Take a look at that start five back where he raced this level and was a winner for Marc. He's on the cones today and Campbell is back in the bike so you may want to include.

Race 6 2-4-6

Tell Me Why She almost got there last time closing in a brisk 29.2 and just missed to Miss Sangria in a tight finish. Drops down a gets inside and if she does that again we could see them smiling in the winner's circle.

You Aint Dolly She's another one that's dropping down and gets a mid pack post for this start. Bradley gets along well with her and she can really scoot home so we think they have a say before it's over.

Fluentocity Raced better last week when she was tucked in the whole way and got the show dough. Has to move outside and gets a new pilot but if you're searching for value this could be the one.

Long Shot Play Fluentocity

Race 7 4-8-2

Collective Wisdom She was sent to the front last time and was a good second to Arc Light. Drops another notch and we're betting Gilles will want to call the shots and if they do clear will be hard to reel in.

Warrawee Ulla It just wasn't her day last out when she came first up and had to settle for a seventh place finish. She has to race from the fence but we think she comes calling late to nab the silver.

What A Babe That was some effort three back where she was out a long way and still hung on to win from post seven. She should be well positioned off the gate and if the trip works out could get the show dough.

Most Probable Collective Wisdom

Race 8 5-2-3

Eagle Jolt Was crying for racing room last week and when he finally did get out was flying on the end of it finishing third. Drops down and Marc is back in the sulky so get ready for a good result.

Here Comes Red He's been battling outside posts for the past three weeks and only hit the board once. Finally gets back inside and you have to think he's going to get a great journey so we say they get the gold or silver.

Painted Pony Looked good last week when he came first over and was an impressive winner in 1:59.3. Moving on up but that was a sharp effort and with Corey at the controls could add another top three to his totals.

Race 9 4-3-2

Woodmere Chella We liked that start three back where she came first up and just missed in the final strides. She gets a better post today and the price will be right so we're putting her on top of the ticket.

Roselily That was an awesome effort last week where she tracked all the way finishing second and firing home in 28.1. She gets the same class, same post, same driver and maybe the same result today.

Larjon Legacy She seems to be settling in on PEI and was a rock solid third closing in a snappy 28 flat. Lines up in a great spot and with David returning we won't be surprised if they are first, second, or third.

Race 10 1-5-2

Game Of Change We loved the way he raced last week battling right to the wire and just missing by a nose. Lands on the pylons and looks to be in line for a similar trip only this time he could reach up and win.

Babbling He never saw the pylons last time and still had enough left to fend off Game of Change late. It was a terrific effort and coming off a performance like that we aren't about to leave him out.

Galterio Hanover He blasted off the wings and went coast to coast getting that first career win. He's been first and second in his last two starts and we like playing trends so we think he's third today.

Race 11 3-1-5

Top Of Her Trade Take a look at that start two back where she set up shop on the front end and went right down the road in 1:57.4. This is a good group but we think Kenny has her on or near the lead at the start and finish.

Southwind Ion Drops out of the open for this start and lands in a prime time spot. She's going to get a great trip from here and if she's close when they turn for home will have a large say in the outcome.

Miss Sangria Took advantage of a perfect pocket ride and zipped down the passing lane to win again. We've said it before she might be the sharpest horse on PEI right now and we can't leave her out.

Value Play The Time To Win

Race 12 5-1-4

Bugsy Maguire He had the most memorable victory on PEI in 2020 winning the Governor's Plate back in July. He hasn't raced since then but does have a couple of qualifiers under his belt and adds Campbell so we think they get to the wire first.

Hunger Pangs First, second and third in his last three and just missed to Chocolate Swirl last week. He'll be guarding the cones today and with the way he's racing it would be wise to put him in your tickets.

Chocolate Swirl That was a huge effort last week when he was a winner from the six hole and closed in a strong 28.4. He gets a better post this week and the Blue Knight returns so they look like serious contenders again.

Race 13 4-1-2

Mantario That was a pretty good performance for post seven where he fired home in 29.1 and just missed the top three. He'll likely be coming from off the pace and Kenny is red hot so we think they land on the scene late and grab the gold.

Reepin Had to come first over last time and was still right there at the wire. He's been third five straight times but with rail control we think he gets a great trip and rallies for second today.

Tempo Seelster He was absolutely flying late last week and almost collared Rockin Indy at the wire. We like the combination of Kenny and this guy and if they close like that again will be part of it.
