

Race 1 4-5-2

Bugtown Superstar Knocking on the door the last couple weeks and now today looks like her shot to get it all.

Dilans Mustang Was in with a tough crowd his last start in Charlottetown. He should find this gang more to his liking.

Sharks Play Third start is often best so we'll take that angle coupled with the post position draw.

Race 2 1-3-2

Promise Me Art Rail control and unrivaled speed in here. If he gets off on the right foot this should be a race for place.

Windemere Best Man Has had some time off since an underwhelming start on May 24. If Gass was able to make some adjustments and get him back to sub-2:00 speed he can grab the deuce.

Southfield Stevie Has been racing well and gets Dowling back in the seat after that duo engineered that last win on June 4. Worth considering.

Most Probable Promise Me Art

Race 3 2-5-3

Ruby Rae Crow Has been facing much tougher than these on a consistent basis and holding her own. She is the one to knock off.

Fire Jet Left well to get position and hold on for second his last start and with a similar crowd we think a repeat is in the cards.

Nowhere Man Closed well his last start to hit the board for the first time in his career. If he continues his upward trend we like his chances to find the ticket again today.

Race 4 4-5-3

Montysgonemarble We're playing a real hunch using him on top but we will give him a pass for that last start where he never really got involved. With another one of those snappy closers it could be photo time.

Oh No Rounding into form and looking good doing it. He will be heard from.

Silver Jake Qualified well last week and gets a decent draw to make him a potential player.

Race 5 3-1-2

Vicky Everyday Has been solid so far this season and is sure to be forwardly placed off the gate in here. We like her to go all the way.

Magical Lily Bear Gets a piece of it every week and draws the rail after a couple weeks on the outside. She could play spoiler in here.

Slightly Twisted Showing progression every week and reunites with Brodie. Don't forget to look at that June 4 line to in 1:59, which could very well be enough to get it all in here today. Don't count her out.

Race 6 1-6-5

Khitam Image Top-two every single week and after being so close for so long she has to break through one of these times. Maybe today?

La Vie En Rose We really like her chances but we give her the nudge to second due to the post draw.

Shouldabeenaclown Murphy has a way of bringing this mare into the equation in the stretch drive every single week. She will be heard from again today.

Race 7 7-1-4

Pictonian Thunder The outside draw is far from appealing but this guy has just been so good he will be hard to deny.

Egamer We toyed with placing him on top and if he can strike the lead and get some separation from our top pick it's possible he could steal the show in here.

Woodmere Beachline Far from a safe play but the flashes of speed he shows making him a horse worth taking a serious look at.

Value Play Woodmere Beachline

Race 8 3-4-1

Eagle Jolt The absolute definition of class year after year. Gets away from the free-for-allers he has been facing and gets a decent class and a decent draw. We think today is his day.

Coasttocoastshark A very nice horse that has been on top of his game for his comeback campaign. We like him for a part of it.

Power Of A Cruiser This isn't the way a lot of players will deal with this race but this guy was so good last week we just have to wonder if he steps up even more while chasing speed.

Race 9 5-1-4

Adventure Luck He is the longest shot on the morning line but we know how good he can be so we'll hold out hope that it all comes together for this aged campaigner and he can grin for his photo. If you can get any kind of price on him, use him.

Shiftyn Georgie Today looks like a prime time to try his luck off the front again and will be no slouch to get by when he finds himself there. He is legitimate.

Windemere Albert He is the top choice in the morning line and may very well deserve to be so. We'll use him for third but the tote board will be your friend in where to place him.

Longshot Play Adventure Luck

Race 10 1-5-2

Chocolate Swirl Got home well his last start to be a part of the triactor against some stiff competition. Now with rail control we see Jason getting well placed at the start to capitalize on that brush down the stretch. Top call.

Moonwriter Never had a chance to get involved last week but with the short field today he should be a major factor again.

Soccer Hanover A player in this class every single week. We like him.

Race 11 5-6-3

Gascoigne Sundae If he didn't get caught in solid on May 30 his lines would likely read three straight wins. We see that trend continuing today.

Mantario Is the class of the field, we will just see if the trip works out in his favour to give him a major share.

Twin B Shadow Has been racing very well but looks to be outclassed by the top two picks along with possibly the rail horse, who is making his first start this season. This guy has been strong so far this season so we'll lean on him to find the ticket again.
