

Race 1 4-3-1

Mr Stanley He led for a long way last week and just got tracked down in the stretch. We're thinking the game plan may be the same tonight only this time he goes all the way.

Barry Bench He's not the safest play on the page but when you look at his lines has the speed to compete. Gets a great spot to work from and if Kenny can keep his mind on business, they could be contenders in here.

King Of Kensington He looked good in the qualifier reaching up late to get it all and closing in 30.1. Now he lands on the cones and Dowling hops up so they're a good choice to complete the tri.

Long Shot Play Shakemeup Hanover

Race 2 1-2-3

Century J Rock We loved the way he raced in his debut drafting all the way and angling out late to get that first career victory. It was an impressive trip and he's back in the same spot so he could win again.

Neptune Seelster Check out that start two back where he followed along and nabbed the runner up spot. He's back inside and the price will be friendly so if you're searching for value this could be the play.

St Lads Skip He's been living on the edges in his last couple but really not that far away. Moves over to post three and Kenny should have him well spotted so we'll call for the bronze.

Race 3 1-3-8

Jks Pilot He raced well in the qualifier finishing second and closing in 28.4. Just a reminder he did win three times last year and has the fastest win time on the page so get ready for a good performance.

Tradition You had to like the way he raced last time firing home in a snappy 28.1 to get the deuce. He gets the same track, same driver, same post and the same result tonight.

Pictonian I Am Finished second to a runaway winner but stilled paced a mile in 1:57.3. He'll also be racing from the grandstand side but with Spinner on board they could come calling late and make some noise.

Race 4 1-3-4

Windsof Quincy He never really got into last time but was up against some stiff competition. Slides down the class ladder and the Blue Knight gets the call so don't be shocked if they hit the wire first.

Silverhill Buddy Fired to the front two back and was on top for most of it before settling for a fourth place finish. We're betting Gilles will spring the gate and if he does clear to the lead, it could be lights out.

Brookdale Ollie He's missed the board in three straight attempts but was racing at higher levels. Takes a dip and moves to the mid pack so this could be the night he finds the win column.

Race 5 4-3-7

Diamond Call What a trip he went last time tracking every step of it and just missing by a whisker. Remains at the same level and a similar journey could be in the cards so we think he crosses the line first.

Howmacs Dragonator We went with him for part of it last week and he raced well hanging on for the show dough. Drops a notch and Kenny will have him in play early so put them in your wagers.

Ashes To Ashes He was on the fringes last out but take a closer look at the line and you'll see he closed in 28 seconds flat. It won't be a picnic from out here but we're confident Gilles maps out a trip onto the ticket.

Race 6 2-1-7

Painted Pony It's hard to believe he turned 13 when the calendar flipped to 2022. He's been a good horse for a long time and with Merner in the bike they could be smiling for the camera tonight.

Tobinator We were impressed with the way he raced last week just getting nipped at the wire. The good news is he gets the pole position and Murphy returns so we're putting them in our exactors.

Mayhem Man He hasn't had much to cheer about of late but was up against tougher company. He's dropping down tonight and Brodie gets the call, so we'll take a swing and call for third.

Race 7 2-5-1

Blue Monk He's put together a nice year and already has six wins on his resume. He's also back inside and if Brodie can control it from the hop they could return to their winning ways.

Mantario Took advantage of perfect pocket ride and reached up late to nab the gold. He may not get that trip tonight but if Dowling has him close when they turn for home, they'll have a big say before it's over.

Nogreatmischief He didn't seem to fire last week but still closed out in 28.3. He's riding the rail again and will be covered up for a good piece of it so we're expecting a big time bounce back.

Race 8 4-6-8

Hemingway He's missed the ticket in three straight starts but that was at higher levels. Takes a slight drop and Adam knows him best so they're our Red Shores value play of the day.

Tempo Seelster He's hit the board in four of his last five and was charted 1:56.2 last out. Moves outside but Kenny knows him very well so don't be shocked if they're a factor at the finish.

Adkins Hanover He raced well last time and was less than two lengths away at the wire. Moves to the fence but with the way he can close there's a strong chance he lands in the top three.

Value Play Hemingway

Race 9 6-2-3

Laughagain Hanover He was in a brief tussle at Northfield Park but brushed to the front and wired them in 1:51.2. There's no doubt he can handle a half mile track and we'll see what Jason decides to do but we like them to win in here.

Burn Out Hanover He's been great all season long and if you need more proof take a look at the stats. We're wagering Brady will be aggressive off the wings and be on or near the lead at the start and finish.

My Land He was chasing a good one last week but still put in an excellent effort. Lines up in a similar spot and will be up handy the pace so we're going to include and so should you.

Race 10 4-1-2

Bugger Max He was scratched sick in his last one but finished third two down on his card. Moves to the middle and with Murphy above the wheels it could be picture time in Charlottetown.

Mick Dundee He had to brave it first up last time and just missed in a blanket finish. Takes a slight drop and is going to get a tidy trip from here so we say first or second tonight.

Mister Rebbily A He's been on the edges in both Charlottetown and Summerside but closer than you think. Much better starting point and David is red hot so this could be a savvy choice.

Race 11 3-5-7

Navalny We loved the way he raced in his Island debut drafting all the way and just getting edged out at the finish. Moves off the rail but if he does that again expect him to get it all this time.

Boys Turn He was oh so close to winning last time just getting collared in the final strides. Bumps up the class ladder and he did win seven times last year so expect him to be a contender tonight.

Selkirk Echo He almost got the job done on Saturday just getting nipped at the wire. Moves back outside and if Barrieau can keep him in the mix they could pull a minor upset.

Most Probable Navalny

Race 12 4-2-5

No Plan Intended The last time we saw him was winning the Governor's Plate in Summerside. Now he draws the mid pack and is tuning up for the Gold Cup & Saucer so don't be shocked if he scores a natural hat trick.

Island Beach Boy He's been great since arriving on the Island and dominated from start to finish last Saturday. We're wagering Gilles will blast early and may even go right down the highway.

Twin B Tuffenuff He made an unfortunate break in the Governor's Plate and took himself out of it. He was sharp prior to that, and Kenny is down to drive so it could be gold, silver, or bronze.

Race 13 7-2-3

St Charlesfireball What a move he made last time zipping to the front and pacing off the screen. Moves to post seven but coming off that trip we're calling for a Red Shores high five.

Rockin Novel When you take a closer look at the last chart line he did race pretty well. Slides further inside and Merner jumps up so if you don't want to play the chalk this could be the one.

The Twist He's been down on his luck in the last two but we all know he's better than that. Gets a prime-time spot on the gate and is going to turn it around at some point...maybe tonight.
